SUSTAINABLE LIVING ROADSHOW Mission Statement

The Sustainable Living Roadshow (SLR) is a caravan of educators and entertainers who tour the country in a fleet of renewable fuel vehicles setting up off-the-grid eco-carnivals with experiential learning villages, empowering communities to utilize sustainable living strategies for a healthier planet.

Our Work

The goal of the Sustainable Living Roadshow is to utilize the platform of festivals and community gatherings to empower individuals and communities with the bioregional solutions for sustainability, including: local power generation, community based food production, natural building strategies, conscious consumer choices, progressive public health policies, and alternative transportation. SLR presents information around sustainable products and living strategies to support a shift in individual and communal choices. Additionally, we use the platforms of entertainment to help create a bridge between the environmental and social justice movements, reaching out to a diverse demographic to help empower all people with these critical tools. Our work represents a new paradigm in entertainment, education and business.

The primary value of SLR is our unique integration of entertainment, education, media and business: a design intended to celebrate practical solutions to environmental and social issues. Our success is based on our experience in touring, event production, grassroots education, conscious entertainment, and the collective depth of our networks. SLR programs provide practical tools for individuals and communities to make simple, affordable and ecologically conscious changes that can be integrated into mainstream realities.

When SLR is not touring, this eco-bus is available to other bands, performers, and entertainers wishing to travel with eco-consciousness in mind. Our bus is a model way to travel with limited carbon footprint, allowing the touring groups to claim their commitment to a greener planet.

BUS' SHORT HISTORY

The SLR bus was originally conceived and developed by Julia Butterfly Hill and her grass roots organization: Circle of Life with over 50 volunteers. Julia undertook this project in order to reduce her impact on the environment from flying to all of her speaking engagements that took her across the country. A touring bus such as this reduced her carbon footprint significantly. In addition to running on bio-diesel and waste vegetable oil, Julia also included the greenest materials for the bus' interior in order to serve as a model for future conscious touring.
